

Hopefully coming in January 2009
Winter Float Trip on the Huzzah River,
Steeleville, MO
Barry Schwalbe, Trip Leader
Phone: 585-8413
Estimated Cost: Show & Go

How many adventurers do we actually have? How many of you watch the Discovery Channel to watch Survivorman with Les Stroud or Man Vs. Wild with Bear Grylls, or my personal favorite, The Deadliest Catch. These men show everyday what it is like to live and survive the elements! We are looking at having a much easier time with a meandering float down the Huzzah River, and staying in some warm cabins with heat and bathrooms, but that 4-6 hours on the river could prove to be our own "Discovery Show"! Do you have the guts to give a January float trip a try? Let me know, as we would love to plan this trip for all of our "skiing", "cold-blooded" club members for a change of pace! Once we have some people interested, we will plan a weekend in January around everyone's calendar, go down to Steeleville on Friday evening, float on Saturday, and come back to Springfield on Sunday. Do you have the guts? Let's see how many people have a little Survivorman in them and give this winter trip a try! Do you think you can handle the cold? Do you have the desire? All of you skiers who may be taking a break from the slopes...why not try another form of winter entertainment?